Chief Information Officers' (CIOs') Training Programmes, is a comprehensive program designed to build the knowledge and skills of selected officers who are leading, managing and implementing e-Governance projects in the Central Ministries/ Departments or States/ UTs. This is designed and delivered by experts /practitioners having more than a decade of experience in the design and delivery of the IT/ e-Governance projects. The program comprises of domestic and international best practices exposure visits and is designed to address the needs at the policy, program and project levels, as given below:

Further to ensure continuous engagements with the officers participated in the CIO programs (309 so far, in past 4 years) and leverage them to champion/ support the eGovernance initiative in their respective Departments/ Organizations, National e-Governance Division (NeGD) is organizing a panel discussion as 'Digital India CIO Convention' on 16th December 2016 (11:30 to 13:30), New Delhi, as a part of SKOCH Summit (Scheduled for 15 and 16 Dec) in New Delhi. The idea is to connect this pool of these champions within Govt, practitioners from Industry, academia, and individuals working in the area of e-Governance and to further institutionalized this connected group as a community to collaborate for further learning and contribution to ensure continuous improvement. The objective is

- To ensure continuous engagement (directly or indirectly) and contribution in e-Governance initiatives at the central and state level,
- To recognise and appreciate their efforts for the projects handled,
- To work out an institutional framework/mechanism for carrying knowledge exchange,

The panel is to explore and deliberate the opportunity and perspectives of developing such an eGovernance Institutional structures and connected community in Government.
